River. It is the center of the fat-melling nuisance in the Many of Twentieth Ward. If the reader will examine the maps he will find that choices in previous epidemics, and diarrhen wooden structures. The district has the most exsively forduring the present season, have been particularly fatal in this vicinity. The bills of mortality in this arction of the city have always shown as alarming disproportion of deaths over these sections in which fat meiting establishments do not exist. The smoke, gas and notions odors of the district to which we The smoke, gas and noxious odors of the district to which we rum-holes and brothels, thanks to the injunctions his which now refer, spread themselves over the entire upper portion of has recently been epidemic in our Courts. This rase, we

The district also contains a number of tenant-houses and a phenic acid have not yet been able ontirely to arr. has been made to secure proper ventilation for the inmates. many of whom live in cellars. The privies stand in the yard adjoining these houses, and although many of them have sewer nections, a much larger number are not thus connected. The offensive odors from these places mingle with those from the fat-melting establishment and contaminate the atmosphere to such an extent as to create and foster all those diseases which depend for their existence mainly, if not wholly, apon atmospheric putridities. There are also kindred nutsances in the shape of slaughter-houses in this vicinity, but the firstmentioned are the most obvious and abordinable. An offsidock is situated at the foot of West Thirty eighth-st., so that all the subspaces are in close proximity. Is it possible that cholers, seeking a domicile, could find one more appropriate or better edepted to its deadly purpose than that which it so fatally elected in 1849 and now offers such magnificent inducements for a harvest of death ? THE FOURTH WARD CHOLERA FIELD.

This is a very dark portion of the map of 1849. It is one of the centers of the tenant-bouse population of New-York. The riciona. One year ago Dr. Pulling said of these people, there are more than 400 families in this district whose homes can only be reached by wading through a disgusting deposit of fifthy refuse." In some respects their condition has been mproved, but the same general characteristics exist to day, The housest are overcrowded and hadir constructed. Their apartments have generally a sickening and stiffing odor, and an atmosphere always loaded with some species of poison, is the only one their residents ever inhale, unless they find it away from their homes. The very worst of these mephitic gases generated by huddling human beings nto ill-ventilated bouses, and made still more deadly by the foul effluvia of fifthy water-closets and overflowing privies. exist here in a concontrated form. Cholera, seeking a fair and open pathway to the heart's blood of those whom it has marked as victims, could scarcely be expected to leave onnoticed so direct a method as that offered by the pestilential atmosphere of the crowded tenant-houses of the Fourth Ward. Here is the building in which the disease made its first appearance in 1849. The buildings Nos. 34 and 36 Cherry st, known as "Gotham Court," furnished the first Cherry w, shown as victim to the epidemic of that year. It has justly been described as a "human packing bodie," and is, perhaps, the most insalebridge building in the city. A few days ago, choicra found a victim in the very room in which, 17 years ago, it made its first appearance in the city. Then a removal of the nkabitants and a thorough cleansing of the building saved it from a still more fatal visitation; and let us hope that the prompt and complete disinfection practiced by the Board of of the disease in this most unwholesome district.

THE SIXTH WARD CHOLERA FIELD. We shall not attempt in the hasty and desultory manner in which we are compelled to call attention to the localities in which cholers manifests itself in this city with the most deadly malignity, to completely describe the places designated cholera of the disease to-day, and to point out the very Important fact that in each previous epidemic they have been the same. THE SLADGBYER BOUNE CHOLERA-FID. The last district to which we shall call especialtention in this article we have named the shughter houseders field. It comprises several smaller districts, and is holed on the north by East Fourteenth-st., south by Grand-stast by the East River, and west by the Bowery. The pontion is extremely crowded, particularly in that portion dhe district which has east of Secondare, and Chrystie, and comprises a mixture of all nationalities. The tenshouses are numerous, and present a great variety both aegards class and condition, the best and the worst mingling the closest proximity. Old-fashioned houses, in had repair, ay be found in nearly all the streets, many of them in a mrable state, with the privy foundation falling away and thround saturated with fecal matter.

The district contains about 60 slaughter-hees, many of which are of a good class and kept in a clely condition. white a few are perpetual nuisances, or will be the present injunction concerning them against the Boar of Health is made perpetual. There are also a number fat-melting establishments in the district which ming their odors with those which emanate from some shell-burning time kilns which operate in close proximity The worst class of slaughter-pens are located in the recbuildings of the most densely packed tenant houses; but a witen description even if we had space in which to print itsentd convey a very inadequate idea of the shameless and bril scenes that are daily witnessed by the women and childs who reside near these butcheries. The map of the diarrid districts of last week shows the extent of disease among a population, which just now seems to offer the epidemic equiacilities for destruction with the fat-melting district of the wentieth, or the whisky districts of the Pourth and Sixth Wds

We have thus placed on record the cholerlelds of New-York, and given a general description of the vist of them. The fact that the opidemic upon each return fis the greatest number of victims in these localities, shows thuccessity for sanstary measures; and if we shall have even the slightest degree stimulated the public desire for hygien and similary improvement, we shall have therein found our war.

The question whethen the Board has power to provide dooks or landing places for the shipment of dead animals, offals and night soil, depends for its proper consideration upon the preliminary questions whether such provision is to be made by sqreement with the owners of the property, or by setting without their consent. In the former silemative, the right to expend money sequiring a door or landing by purchase or lease, as an extraordinary power during the present period of peril, exists whenever such a measure is found by the Board to be absolutely necessary to prevent period of peril, exists whenever each a measure is found by the Board has no right to expose the health by waiting for negligate contractors to perform their durly, but is to take the requisite means directly, under the 7th and 4th clauses of the recolutions approved by the Government, April 21, 1968. But it negotiation and parchises do not avail, if our no authority for the Board to seize a dock or landing-place without consent of owner. This licard has a certain power to take possession of buildings for temporary loopitals during the price of an epidemic if in their judgment the same be required; and for private property so (aken a private compensation is to be pitals, and has no application to docks or landings; and I find no statutory provision heaved application.
